2. Demounting of teh speedo

First you have to unscrew the two screws marked on the picture.

Now you have to unscrew the screw marked on this picture. There is another screw on the other side of the steering wheel at the same position.

Below the steering column there are three more screws that have to be unscrewed. When all these screws are removed you can carefully remove the covering from the steering column.

Now you have to unscrew these two screws and you can carefully remove the cockpit covering.

And last you have to unscrew these three screws therewith is speedo unit is free. Now pull out the speedo CAREFULLY and disconnect the plug connectors behind it.

The only thing left to do is swap the four lamps (1,2,3,4) with the new leds in sockets. If one of the leds does not work you have to turn it around because you may have swaped the polarity

When all leds are working properly you can reassemble everything and you are ready.

Have a good trip.
